

FARMING INTERESTS

By proclamation issued recently, President Wilson put entire control of the wheat situation in the hands of Julius H. Barnes, Wheat Director making it possible for him, by a license system, to regulate the export and import of wheat and wheat flour the domestic and foreign distribution the milling processes and the baking of bread and other products.

With the authority vested in him, Mr. Barnes will be able to regulate importations from Australia and South American countries, which have large supplies of wheat selling below the Government guaranteed price, and from Canada, despite the reciprocity agreement.

It will also, to a large extent, give Mr. Barnes authority to decide whether there shall be any change of policy that will operate for the reduction of bread prices, with the Government paying the losses resulting from maintaining the guaranteed price to the producers.

Bountiful farm crops this year are indicated in the Department of Agriculture's July forecast based on conditions existing the first of the month. Winter wheat and rye, now being harvested, showed the largest production ever attained. Record crops of sweet potatoes, tobacco and rice also were predicted, and the production of spring wheat, corn, oats, barley, white potatoes and hay is expected to be larger than the average for the five years 1913 to 1917.

The value of the wheat, corn, and oats crop combined amounts to $8,340,622,000 based on farm prices for July 1st. The value of corn is $4,768,470,000 wheat, $2,577,425,000, and oats $994,727,000.

The prospective output of wheat is placed at 1,161,000,000 bushels. Winter wheat showed a loss of 54,000,000 bushels, and spring wheat 21,000,000 bushels. The winter wheat crop, nevertheless, will be the largest ever grown.

Corn production was forecast at 2,815,000,000 bushels, 132,000,000 larger than last year's crop.

White potatoes production will be smaller than last year, but the sweet potato crop promises to be a record one.
